WEAM

with NAT ALBRIGHT

the voice of the Brooklyn Dodgers

The Washington-Lee Majorettes are very familiar to the regular football supporters. These eight peppy girls perform their routines during half-time festivities, whether W-L is playing at home or away.

The members of the squad: Janet Schoolcraft, Carolyn Spell, Anita Goodman, Joyce Watkins and Pat Fraber, are led by Captain Gerry Dresser, and Co-Captains Sue Smith and Betty Whitely.

Gerry, who has never had a lesson, specializes in twirling flaming batons. When asked if she had ever gotten burned she said that she didn't get singed when she kept her baton moving fast. No wonder she twirls it so rapidly!

The group practices about three times a week. They get together to make up and practice their routines. They have to keep a "C" average to remain on the squad.

A SALUTE TO THE WASHINGTON-LEE MAJORETTES

PIGSKIN PREVIEW

This afternoon marks the opening of the varsity football rivalry between Wakefield and Washington-Lee. This annual contest promises to become as traditional as the Army-Navy game. In the near future, it is the hope of both schools to establish a trophy, similar to the famed "Old Oaken Bucket" between W-L and G. W.

In last week's action, the Generals of W-L invaded Richmond to play Thomas Jefferson. The inspired Generals downed previously unbeaten T. J., 13-6. The Jeffs WERE the leading contender for the State Championship, before W-L came to town.

Wakefield, sporting a 6-1 record, trounced B-CC, 33-0.

From the enthusiasm already shown, this promises to be a fine ball game. Good luck to the boys on both sides of the line of scrimmage.
